In finance, a trade is an exchange of a security (stocks, bonds, commodities, currencies, derivatives or any valuable financial instrument) for "cash", typically a short-dated promise to pay in the currency of the country where the 'exchange' is located. The price at which a financial instrument is traded, is determined by the supply and demand for that financial instrument.

Twiggs Momentum Oscillator. Twiggs Momentum Oscillator is a new momentum oscillator developed by Colin Twiggs for Incredible Charts. A smoothed version of the Rate Of Change oscillator, its primary purpose is to identify fast trending stocks using the stock screener. It can, however, be successfully used to generate buy and sell signals in a similar fashion to other momentum oscillators.

The amount of "wobble" in the loss is related to the batch size. When the batch size is 1, the wobble will be relatively high. When the batch size is the full dataset, the wobble will be minimal because every gradient update should be improving the loss function monotonically (unless the learning rate is set too high).
